With more than two decades of accounting experience, John Murray has a diverse range of experience with clients in various industries. John worked in Public Accounting for firms in Cincinnati, including a Big Six Firm, gaining experience in audit and tax for twelve years before accepting a position as CFO with a large local building materials distribution company.

While in public accounting, John managed financial statement audits, reviews and compilations, and was responsible for client tax compliance for public and privately held companies. Additionally, he was involved in consulting engagements and litigation support. While in industry, he was responsible for all aspects of accounting, financial reporting, tax, legal, human resources and other business management.

John has significant construction-specific experience. He spent 10 years as the finance committee chair for the City of Madeira, where he was responsible for the oversight of the annual road project, including coordination with public works road and infrastructure programs with budgets ranging from $300,000 to $1.25 million per year, including a $4.5 million beautification project and numerous other park projects. He served as Mayor for two years and Vice Mayor for two years while with the Madeira City Council.

As CFO of a large privately held building material distributor, John provided oversight of the development of a $10 million commercial site, including negotiation of debt financing and obtainment of economic development and Ohio Rail grants. He was also responsible for overseeing all contracts with government entities, commercial and residential contractors.

In his public accounting experience, John has performed audits, reviews and compilations for commercial and residential contractors, heavy road contractors, private road and residential real estate developers, as well as construction material suppliers. He has also performed agreed upon procedures for construction contracts for airport runways at CVG and for a large Pepsi bottler in Florida.
