Kim Perry is a certified public accountant (CPA) and a manager with Decosimo's assurance practice. She serves clients across various industries, including financial institutions, consumer finance and not-for-profit organizations.

Kim serves as assurance manager for one of the largest privately held pay day advance and consumer finance companies with centers in over thirty states. Well versed in the strict state and federal regulations that apply to the consumer finance industry, Kim assists clients with financial reporting and disclosure requirements as well as communicating the impact and implications of new accounting standards. Her ability to maintain a current knowledge of compliance regulations as well as financial reporting requirements is an invaluable asset to the clients she serves.

Kim has experience serving many types of financial institutions, including large and small banks, as well as numerous payday advance entities. She has external audit experience with a financial institution registered with the SEC and assisted with the registrant's initial public offering. She also performs internal audits for a community bank.

Kim's experience also includes not-for-profit entities, where she focuses on educational institutions and private foundations with assets totaling $150 million. She is able to provide recommendations regarding internal control matters while also assisting with the unique reporting and disclosure requirements that are unique to not-for-profit organizations.

She is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) and the Tennessee Society of Certified Public Accountants (TSCPA). Her past civic involvement includes serving on the Governance Board of the Chattanooga Girls Leadership Academy. She is currently participating in Leadership Chattanooga, a 10-month leadership program.

Kim graduated cum laude from East Tennessee State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration with an emphasis in accounting.
